From Holy Scripture as a whole at least six strong lines of reasoning emerge that can lead to making solid moral decisions with a Scriptural foundation: 1 opening up to various cultures, hence a certain ethical universalism criterion of convergence ; 2 a firm stand against incompatible values criterion of opposition ; 3 a process of refinement of the human conscience which can be observed within each of the two Testaments criterion of progress ; 4 a rectification of the tendency to leave moral decisions to the subjective, individual sphere alone criterion of community dimension ; 5 an aperture towards the absolute future of the world and of history that enables us to mark out clearly the goal and the motivations of human behaviour criterion of finality ; 6 an attentive evaluation, in each case, of the relative or absolute value of moral principles and precepts in the bible criterion of discernment. Remember, there are roughly 2, Bible verses about money and possessions, which means there are way more nuances talked about in the Bible than these nine.

In the 20th century, the science of psychology has written a great deal on the will often seems to be drained and we feel we must start again or give up.
